

Scenarios

Officers will have access to all equipment that is carried in the trunk of a supervisor's vehicle. This will include a shield, Halligan, ram, and a medical kit. The availability of this equipment will depend on when the supervisor arrives on scene and if the equipment is requested.

1. County Communications has received numerous calls, reporting an active shooter at James Woods High. There is an open line and gunshots can be heard by the call taker. One caller described the shooter as a former employee that was fired. The suspect was described as a male, dressed in dark clothing carrying a long gun and a bag. The suspect was last seen on the first floor in the administration's office.

You arrive on scene and a partner informs you that they are approximately two minutes away. And several other officers are enroute but are several minutes away.

Go!

2. Officers were dispatched to a pain specialist facility at the hospital. Prior to their arrival the suspect fired several rounds into the ceiling and forced the staff into a back room. A nurse has been using her cellphone to text information to her roommate, who is passing it along to the 911 call taker.

The suspect is demanding that the doctor that performed his surgery come to the office. Officers have been on scene for around twenty minutes, with updates from the nurse inside. The last text message said, "he said he will shoot one person at a time until the doctor that ruined his life shows up here".

Several officers and a supervisor have arrived on scene and a perimeter has been established. Swat and HNT are enroute with a forty-five-minute ETA.

Officers hear several gunshots and screams from inside and they are instructed to make entry.

The suspect committed suicide with a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head. The staff has hidden, and officers will conduct a search inside for the suspect.

3. Officers are dispatched to a building complex to the report of a domestic disturbance. The call taker advised that the ex-husband is on scene and is threatening to kill his ex-wife. The suspect was seen waving a handgun around and threaten to shoot police if they were called. The caller and other employees fled out a back door and last saw the suspect in a back office with ex-wife.

You arrive on scene and a partner informs you that they are behind you. Several other officers are enroute but are several minutes away.
